SIERRA MADRE'S ENTRY in the Rose Parade will be a gaily colored replica of the White House and a Huckleberry Finn-like character dozing in the sun beside a bright blue fishing pond. Entitled "Young America Dreams," the float was designed by Bernard Wynne and Ted Velasquez.

Private Rites Observed for Nina Norris

Mrs. Nina Kellogg Norris, long-time Sierra Madre resident, died suddenly at her home on Nov. 25. Mrs. Norris, who resided at 297 Mariposa Ave., had been a resident of Sierra Madre for 45 years.

Well known in musical circles, Mrs. Norris, who attended the Pasadena schools, was a musician and whistler with the Sid Grauman circuit. She also toured with the Sunshine Circuit during World War I. Later she headed the Norris family orchestra. Five of her children played with the Pasadena Civic Orchestra.

She is survived by her husband, James George Norris, and six daughters, Mrs. Catherine Brown, Duarte; Mrs. Peggy Howbert, Sierra Madre; Mrs. Mauryne Mitchell, Arcadia; Mrs. Georgyne La Lone, Sierra Madre; Mrs. Donna Stevenson, Canoga Park; and Mrs. Dianna Stevenson, West Covina, and one son, Kellogg Norris of Sierra Madre.

Other survivors include three brothers, Cecil Kellogg, Merced; Orville Kellogg, Lancaster; and Lyle Kellogg, San Marino. Also, two sisters, Mrs. Alice Kehlet, San Gabriel, and Mrs. Leila Hossford, Burbank, as well as 15 grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held last Wednesday.

'America Dreams' Is Theme of Local Float

The Civic Club will assume the responsibility of organizing and supervising the workers who will do the actual pasting of the flowers on the Sierra Madre float entry for the Tournament of Roses, according to Mrs. Ruth Barden, Civic Club president, and Col. Walter Thurber, general chairman of the float committee.

Mrs. Carl Cheadle has been appointed chairman of the committee, and will be assisted by Mrs. Wayne Goldie and Mrs. Lowell Cockle.

Volunteers have worked around the clock for the last two or three days of the year in the past, concluding close to midnight on New Year's Eve. The schedule will depend on the number of volunteers available, with the float committee this year aiming for a 10 p.m. deadline.

MEMBERS of youth groups may earn community service stripes by participating in the flower stripping and gluing, according to Mrs. Cheadle, but must be accompanied by adult supervision. Youth group leaders are requested to call Mrs. Cheadle, at ELgin 5-7582, to make arrangements.

Others wishing to participate in the final stages of the float construction at the city yards may contact Mrs. Cheadle, Mrs. Goldie at ELgin 5-7305, or Mrs. Cockle at ELgin 5-6469.

The second and final day of the Rose Sale, to raise funds for the float, will be conducted Saturday.

Ninth and 10th grade girls are competing in the sale, for tickets to the Coronation Ball for the Rose Queen.

Volunteers may call Mrs. Elena Brown, at ELgin 5-9693. Roses will be offered for sale in several strategic downtown locations.

The City Council has allocated $1,000 for the float, according to Col. Thurber. In addition to the Rose Sale, funds will be solicited by a committee headed by Paul Landwehr, who is also accepting volunteer help in the project.

INDIVIDUAL contributions may be made at the First Western Bank, in care of Marvin Neelands.

The preliminary sketch of the float was prepared by Ted Velasquez and Bernard Wynne, local artists. Wynne will make the final drawing, Col. Thurber said.

"Young America Dreams" is the title of the float, in keeping with the parade theme, "Day Dreams in Flowers."

Bob Green is recruitment chairman for the crew constructing the framework of the float, with Manuel de la Torre as foreman. Mrs. Gordon MacDonald is vice chairman of the float committee.

Rescuers Aid Four On Ledge

Four hikers were rescued from a ledge in the Santa Anita Canyon Thanksgiving Day by members of the Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Squad.

The hikers, all visitors at the home of Mrs. R. Stewart, 1060 Old Mill Rd., Pasadena, were Caroline May, 23; Donna Barnes, 22; Cynthia Hawks, 15, and Gregory Howell, 26.

They became trapped on the ledge after they left the trail below Big Santa Anita Dam. Their cries for help were heard by the caretaker at the dam at about 4:15 p.m., who called the Rescue Crew.

The four were brought safely out of the mountains at 7:20 p.m. Members of the Rescue Squad who participated included Fred, Earl and Edward La Lone, Don Jackson, Miner Harkness, Bill Adams, Hubert Herriek and Ralph Shangraw of the Forest Service. Sheriff's deputies and Sierra Madre police also assisted.

Santa Claus Is Coming to Town This Friday

Santa Claus will come to Sierra Madre Friday night in a red fire truck drawn by eight tiny spark plugs.

He will first go to the Post Office at 7:30 p.m., pick up mail addressed to him and greet the children. Then he will drive through Sierra Madre, dismount at Kersting Square and distribute the contents of his bag to the youngsters awaiting him there.

Starting Monday, Dec. 9, all Sierra Madre stores will be open nights until 9 o'clock. Final judging of the store displays best capturing the Christmas spirit will be Dec. 14. Private homes will be judged later in the month.

Democratic Council to Stage Dinner

A "Preview of Candidates" dinner, sponsored by the 48th Assembly District Council, will be held at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 10, at the Sierra Madre Woman's Clubhouse.

Master of ceremonies will be Alan Cranston, California Democratic Council state chairman and candidate for state controller.

Accepting invitations thus far are Judge Stanley Mosk, candidate for attorney general; Congressman Clair Engle, candidate for U.S. senator; Glenn Anderson, candidate for lieutenant governor; State Senator Richard Richards and District Attorney William McKesson.

Others invited include Pat Brown, gubernatorial candidate.

Wide Interest Noted in S. M. Entry

Interest in Sierra Madre's float in the Rose Parade appears to be general throughout the San Gabriel Valley.

Letters expressing interest in and offering suggestions for the float have been received by Chairman Walter Thurber from Pasadena, Alhambra, Puente, Glendora, San Gabriel, Temple City, Monrovia, Arcadia, Covina and other valley communities.

One of the most poetic and at the same time practical came from George McElroy, real estate editor of the Los Angeles Herald-Express, who said:

"Call it the Cycle of Life, the Drama of Life or Five Generations. The rose bud breaking free from its guardian sheath would, of course, be a baby girl. When the first bud curves from its slender bud, then she is a 'teen'. Next stage of the rose depicts womanhood at 35 or thereabouts. Full bloom represents her 20 years later at 56 or so. Last rose, when the petals fall, returning to earth to renew the old drama of death and birth. At any rate that's what I have always seen in roses."

Col. Thurber reported to the general committee Monday evening that while all of the suggestions arrived too late to be considered, the committee is expressing the appreciation of the entire community in personal letters to each of the authors for his interest in Sierra Madre.

Gordon and Christmas ...

Outdoor Decorations Look Like Santa at Work

I'm for any kind of decorations outside for Christmas. How different a neighborhood looks when the lights are on at night—and visually the spirit of the season shows everywhere in the neighborhood.

Take a complete street and planted, or put in the lawn or bed area for the purpose—these make a street look like Christmas lane in miniature. It looks a bit as if Santa has touched all the trees.

ONE YEAR I decided to do something different and make a huge ornament sitting on the lawn. My little amber was without its leaves and looked like a shape I could use. From about the top of the tree to the ground was 10 feet. Nearly half way up I built a hoop all around the tree.

Taking some of the glittering ribbon from the store, I ran ribbon from the top of the tree over the loop, back again to the trunk. With ribbon and lacelawn I covered the frame of the tree, running some pieces inside the frame to make it look like a large Christmas jewel. Three bright reflector lights were put in pots at the bottom of the tree so that when the lights were on you had a hard time to see where they came from. The light reflected on the silver and gold lacelawn and ribbon and lo—you had a tree jewel from a fairy tale. And did the folks stop on the street to see this unusual yard decoration!!

Board Turns Down Released Time Plea

Ball Players' Parents to Meet Friday

Parents of young ball players are urged to attend a public meeting of the Sierra Madre Baseball Association at 8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 13, in City Hall.

The past year's program will be reviewed, this year's plans outlined, and progress to date surveyed. This will be an opportunity for submitting constructive ideas on improving Sierra Madre's baseball program, according to Dixie Tiller, president.

Terry and Barry Truesdale won first prize, a $15 merchandise certificate, in the holly and Christmas greens sale contest which ended Saturday. Their sales totaled $107.

Second prize of $10 went to Doran Brett and Billy Milford with sales of $85. Ronald Toms, working alone, won third prize of $5 with sales of $53. The association should net approximately $300 for this campaign.

New team sponsors include Roess Market, Arnold's Hardware, Don Jackson's Men's Wear, and The Sierra Madre News. These organizations will provide baseball uniforms for teams sponsored. A few teams still need sponsors. Those interested in either full or partial sponsorship, call Bill Coulson, ELgin 5-7774.

Ministers Seek Defeat at Polls

The Sierra Madre School Board turned down a request to establish a released time religious education program Monday night after prolonged debate and after the results of a questionnaire had been announced.

A motion to adopt the program was made by Martha Coutant, who acted as president in the absence of Kenneth Bush, who was ill. The motion died for lack of a second.

The results of the questionnaire, which asked the parents of fourth, fifth and sixth graders whether they would participate in a released time program if one were established, showed a fairly even split in public opinion.

A TOTAL of 69 parents voted no, while 63 answered in the affirmative. Judging by comments on the questionnaires, many parents would participate, but would rather see the program established after school hours.

The request for the program was made in a letter to the Board from the Sierra Madre Ministerial Association, signed by Rev. Donald Ostrander, minister of Trinity Presbyterian Church.

Representing the association at Monday's meeting were Rev. Chilton C. McPheeters of the Methodist Church; Rev. Robert Schaper, Bethany Church, and Rev. Ostrander, who left before the debate started. Rev. McPheeters, who made a lengthy plea for the establishment of a released time program, said:

"We look upon released time as a step toward strengthening the spiritual life of our nation. Our schools shouldn't become the handmaidens of materialistic or heathenistic influences."

HE CHARGED that the lack of religious training in the public schools is turning more and more people toward parochial schools.

"When the taxpayers go to the polls and vote to support two school systems, that will be a sorry day in our history," he said.

Rev. Schaper said that released time program are entirely legal and have been established successfully all over the nation, including Pasadena and Monrovia.

Most vocal of several members of the audience who are opposed to released time was Kenneth Moyer, 46 N. Mountain Trail.

"No one in this room is opposed to religious training," Moyer said. "But we are here to get the full value from our tax dollar, every hour of every day that our children are in school."

Dr. Lowell Jackson, school superintendent, said that released time, from the point of view of the educator, cannot be looked upon as a separate item.

"We must consider how much is being taken from our curriculum over a period of time by many functions. I'm very jealous of school time."

"If a released time program is adopted, we will have to take steps to see that the time is not wasted and that the children would not miss any basic work."

Following the meeting, both Rev. McPheeters and Rev. Schaper indicated that they will work for the defeat at the polls of Board Members Barrett, Hugh Colvin and Mrs. Nathan Jacobs.

In other business, Dr. Jackson said he and members of the school staff have been working on a Christmas program which this year will be on the theme, "Christmas Around the World," and will be part of the educational program in teaching children about the people of America.

REP. EDGAR W. HIESTAND, 21st District Republican, greets City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington following his talk to members of the Kiwanis Club Nov. 26. Hiestand's sporty beret was a gift from the Kiwanis Club, imported from France to replace the chapeau the congressman lost while touring that country.

'Reuther Public Enemy'-Hiestand

"Public Enemy No. 1" is the title given to Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and vice president of the AFL-CIO, by Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand, 21st District Republican, speaking at a meeting of the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club last Tuesday.

"The most dangerous man in America today, Walter Reuther," said Hiestand, "is dangerous because he's both brilliant and ruthless. He's both a shrewd politician and a pitiless dictator."

"His shrewd political acumen was shown by his recent grandstand play for reduction of living costs by demanding the auto makers reduce the price of their cars $100, although the increased costs of the last coerced pay raises far exceeded that amount per car."

"DATING FROM the time when he and his brother Victor spent a long session studying in Russia and declared they would soon return to 'Sovietize America,' down through his importation of the sitdown strike in Detroit and through the present his is a long record of violence and coercion.

Reuther and Jimmy Hoffa have much in common with Harry Bridges and other labor racketeers. They have utmost contempt for small business, for small union, the individual worker or the public. They publicly espouse Big Business and Big Labor, and 'public be damned!'

The worker needs a Bill of Rights, Hiestand said, and legislation must be enacted for his protection as well as for the general public.

HIS BILL of Rights should include:

1. Right to elect own officers by secret ballot.
2. Right to recall officers by secret ballot (or elections annually by law).
3. Right to strike or refuse by secret ballot (it is said secret ballot would have prevented at least 75 per cent of strikes).
4. Right of minority to protection (as well as also majorities from entrenched cliques).

5. Right of free speech (right to criticize) without ghastly reprisals.

6. Right to protect welfare funds (bank depositors, insurance policy holders, all fiduciary organizations are presently protected).

7. Right to protect funds from improper use (especially political without consent of members).

8. Right to work! (The right to seek and obtain employment without restriction as to race, color, creed, political affiliation, union membership or non-membership, is the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness guaranteed by the Constitution to every citizen, union members and non-members now specifically denied.)

9. Right to refuse to be a party to a boycott policy which eventually increases his cost of living.

10. Right to refuse to participate in featherbedding which eventually increases his cost of living.

Tragic Accidents Teach Driving Lesson Hard Way

By Judy Haymaker

In the past few weeks, PHS has been upset over the number of accidents that students whom everyone seems to know have been involved in. The most recent tragedy took place Nov. 27, when Neil Wilson of Pasadena and two of his friends were seriously injured, and two female occupants were killed. All sympathy is extended; it is indeed a sorrowful thing to learn of death so near to one, but watching the driving of local teen agers since the accident, I have discovered that speed has been reduced and that there have been less chances taken. It is a shame this lesson must be learned the hard way, yet I sincerely hope those who did slow down stay that way.

(We hope!) Both the "A" and "B" teams will play against El Monte Dec. 6 at 3 p.m. in the PHS Boys' Gym.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mike Cohen! It was announced at the Nov. 27 assembly that he took second place in the "I Speak for Democracy" speech contest at Pasadena High School. Unfortunately, however, the audience did not have the chance to hear his winning entry.

BEGINNING the baseball season with a win of 65-36 over La Puente and a narrow loss of 48-40 to Chaffey, there is a chance that PHS may take a lead this year.

Symphony Sets Two 'Messiah' Presentations

The Pasadena Symphony Association will present two performances of Handel's "The Messiah" in Pasadena Civic Auditorium with Pasadena Chorus and Pasadena Symphony Orchestra. They will once again be joined by the cappella choir of Pasadena City College which will swell the oratorio to 200 voices. The performances will be given Dec. 14 at 8:15 p.m. and Dec. 15 at 3 p.m. with Dr. Lert conducting both concerts. There is no charge for admission. Doors open at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. Taylor is a graduate of Boise High School, Boise, Idaho, where Mr. Herzberg was a mail carrier.

Couple Celebrates 47th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herzberg, 32 N. Lima, will celebrate their 47th wedding anniversary Dec. 7 at a small family dinner party.

Mr. and Mrs. Herzberg, both 70 years old, have been residents of Sierra Madre for the past nine years. They moved here from Elmhurst, Ill., where Mr. Herzberg was a mail carrier.

GIFT SUGGESTIONS FOR THE ENTIRE FAMILY

Joyce Auger Is Bride Of A. Peyton Hurley

Honeymooning in Acapulco this week are newlyweds Mrs. and Mrs. A. Peyton Hurley. The former Miss Joyce Leonore Auger and Mr. Hurley were married at 2 p.m. Nov. 30 in St. Rita's Church, Sierra Madre, with the Rev. Thomas O'Malley performing the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Hurley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Auger, 3815 Canfield, wore a gown of white delustrated satin with Alencon lace bordering the neckline and shoulders.

Of classic design, the dress was fashioned with gores flowing into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil fell from a coronet headpiece. She carried a pre-Civil War fan, which had belonged to her great-aunt, the lace and ivory of the fan complemented by white purple throated orchids and lilies of-the-valley.

MISS JOAN Fornier, wearing flamingo pink, was maid of honor, and Miss Joanne Lois Auger, in mint green, was her sister's bridesmaid. The attendants' gowns were made on princess lines of taffeta covered in tulle of matching color.

Their flowers were pale mums.

Dennard C. Hurley, Atlantic, Va., was his brother's best man, and Edward Crowl, Newport Beach, and Spyros Halikis, Los Angeles, were ushers.

Warren Marshall, formerly with the Pittsburgh Civic Opera, was soloist. The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums and ferns.

Mrs. Auger, mother of the bride, was gowned in mauve silk, with matching gloves and hat adorned with crystal beads and iridescent sequins.

More than 100 friends and relatives gathered after the ceremony for a reception at the home of the bride's parents on Canfield Road.

Buffet and punch tables were set in the garden, where guests toasted the newlyweds in champagne.

Turnbull-Halperin Nuptials Nov. 30 in South Pasadena

Woodwardia fern trees, autumn hued chrysanthemums and candelabras banked the altar at Oneonta Congregational Church last Saturday when Carol Patricia Halperin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Robert Halperin, 1490 Old House Rd., became the bride of Ensign Bruce Cameron Turnbull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wright Turnbull of San Mateo. Calif. Rev. Dr. Frederick A. Barnhill read the service.

The bride was escorted by her father down the candlelight aisle which was garlanded with champagne ribbon, chrysanthemum and fall foliage to compliment the attendants' dresses. Simple elegance was the keynote of the original Sophie wedding gown of white Italian silk brocade with lily of the valley design. The bodice was fashioned with a portrait neckline and three-quarter sleeves. The bell sheath skirt, with its fullness swept to the back, fell gracefully into a cathedral train. Her full-length pure silk illusion veil was caught by a crown studded with tiny pearls. She carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids, centered with green and white cypripediums and haloed by lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Edward Bradley Dewey Jr. of Burlingame, Calif., sister of the groom, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Janet Lockwood of Long Beach, Miss Jean Bickel of Berkeley, Mrs. John Wells of Pasadena, Mrs. Raymond Rodolf of Sierra Madre, Mrs. Howard Sanger of Monrovia and Mrs. Gene Hatfield of Montebello.

Carol Lynn Asher, daughter of the Henry Ashers, 500 Gatewood Lane, was junior bridesmaid and Susan Spalding, daughter of the William F. Spaldings, former Ranch residents now making their home in Pasadena, was flower girl.

All of the bride's attendants wore ballerina length, princess-styled champagne satin frocks with jeweled bodices and tiny matching hats with pearl-studded veils. They carried cascade bouquets of bronze hybrid vanda orchids.

Stanley H. Rickard Jr. was best man and the guests were seated by John Wells, Raymond Rodolf, John Dewey, Bud Travi and Ensigns David Sullivan, John Whiting and James Duncan.

The ring bearer was David A. Dewey, nephew of the groom and grandson of Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Dewey of San Marino.

The mother of the bride chose a cocktail length mauve silk chiffon dress. The mother of the groom was attired in a cocktail length Dior blue satin ensemble.

More than 300 guests attended the reception at the Huntington-Sheraton Hotel where the Terrace Room was elaborately decorated with fern trees and silvered bird cages, suspended from the ceiling, containing doves, fall foliage and flowers. The smilax-garlanded serving tables were covered in pale green satin with arrangements of orchids.

Around the Square

By Tommy-Ann Miller

Understatement of the Week: After clinging by a toenail for three hours hundreds of feet up on one of the steepest cliffs in these parts, one of the rescued party (a visiting Englishman) remarked: "That's the last time I go strolling in these Sierra Madre foothills again!"

SPOTTED early Sunday morning as they prepared to set up the Christmas Creche, were Mrs. Leila Roberts, Bud Bates, Randall Perry and "Red" Waite.

Everyone pitched in to help uncrate boxes, sweep the Square and trim the long locks on the pepper tree.

SIERRA MADRE has made the cover of a publication with a solid circulation—the new telephone book. Where formerly we were a drab dot on the map, this year we cop the whole cover picture—complete with mountains and wistaria-covered arbor.

MORE MOUNTAIN Miscelany: Ranger Red Shingraw didn't get much sleep last weekend. Twice in the wee hours one night he was routed out of bed. First, a barely-dressed youth whose fraternity brothers stripped off most of his clothing and abandoned him in the Chantry Flats area, came shivering to Red's door for help.

Secondly, someone sounded the Chantry Flats fire alarm and darned near had campers and cabin owners (asleep at the bottom) evacuating up the long winding trail. Luckily, Ranger Shingraw signaled them that it was a false alarm and notified rangers and S. M. Police who apprehended the prankster at the bottom of the road.

Courage in Action

The Sierra Madre School Board took a courageous step Monday night.

The Board turned down a released time plan as presented by the local Ministerial Association. Thus the Board, with the exception of one member, exposed itself to the charge of being anti-religious.

The charge already has been made, as the letters on this page indicate. The three members of the Board, who, by their refusal to second a motion to permit the program, in effect, killed it, are in an uncomfortable position. (Board President Kenneth Bush was ill and could not attend the meeting.)

It would have been much easier if the motion had been seconded and adopted. It's always easier to place oneself firmly on the side of righteousness, even if the purveyors of righteousness are on dubious grounds.

The three members of the Board, I'm sure, were aware of this elementary principle. Yet they still felt the establishment of a released time program was unwise.

This took considerable courage. It's possible to disagree honestly with their position, but to call them anti-religious is, it seems to me, unfair, unwise and somewhat remote from the Christian tenets of tolerance and brotherly love.

If the Board members are anti-religious, then so are all others who oppose released time, including the editor of this newspaper and the many clergymen who also question its effectiveness.

Name calling, I'm afraid, will not settle this question. It's one which goes far deeper than released time. It's a nation-wide problem dealing with the separation of church and state. How far should the schools go? Is it not proper to teach about religion?

In a thoughtful discussion of released time in the Oct. 2, 1957, issue of "The Christian Century," Howard A. Waterhouse, a Methodist minister in New York State, said:

"The church has become involved in a secondary and deep problem because it sought to meet an immediate demand with hastily conceived and superficial methods. Most released-time curriculums are far below the technical standards of public school materials."

"They were originated as a stop-gap and have not evolved far beyond that stage. And so children, who often learn in spite of teaching failures and see the facts in spite of our efforts to hide them, learn from us the lessons of disrespect and discern the evidence of denominational confusion."

"So we ask again, Is released-time religious instruction worth-while? Many ministers and public educators must in candor answer No. At the moment it would seem that in many, if not most, localities the drawbacks outweigh the contributions. This is not to say that the original goal was mistaken."

"Religion is a part of culture, and an educational system that provides no place for a consideration of the effects of religion is barren and lopsided. A technique must be added whereby the heaven of religion may be added to the staple of secular information. Present techniques, however, do not do the job."

"Local churches and national denominations must consider this question seriously. Many children will not forget the classes where they learned disrespect through ineffectiveness and confusion. Many communities will not forget the spectacle of churches involved in ethical compromise for the sake of prestige or expediency."

"In the past the church has often fallen into errors through the ill-considered desire to 'do something' without regard to the results. Let us hope that, in this area, the desire which led us into action will now prompt us to re-evaluate a program which often does little good and almost always contains the potential to do much harm."

Mission a Success, Antique Goes to Lady in New York

By Edward Lloyd Voorhees

The daily bus from Sciacca for Girenti was packed when we left the station at 5:30 p.m. Soon it was running over, with additions at every stop standing among their packages in the aisle. For the entire 70 miles the ancient highway curved like a snake in action, over high hills and through valleys, touching at little villages.

The high speed of the big new bus, its sudden stops and starts, flung the passengers about like wiggling eels in a basket. Meanwhile, the bus driver kept the radio blaring at maximum volume for the entire distance, reducing my brain to a kind of blank stupor.

At the Gigenti station I took an open carriage up the hill to the small hotel where I had stopped in 1929. I was confident that if this were the same proprietor he would have forgotten me completely. It was, and he had!

MY MISSION was to induce this proprietor, Signor X, who had a fine private collection of antiquities from the excavations of nearby Green ruins, to send to the lady in New York, by me, a small piece of ancient marble sculpture (preferably a head!) to compensate her for the one never delivered by the professor who never arrived!

Later, I confided to Signor X that I had a private mes-

Letters to the Editor

SEE BASIC HOSTILITY

Dear Sir:

After the disappointing demonstration of attitude at the Board meeting on Monday night I am reluctantly forced to a sad decision. All through the incidents surrounding the Nativty controversy I hoped that the attitude of the board was sincere, though I felt it misinformed.

I wanted to believe that the Board was attempting to protect the rights of the minority or majority within our legal and academic framework. The board action Monday night regarding released time shows me that its attitude is one of hostility to our great religious institutions and heritage.

There seems no way to evade this conclusion. It cannot be a legal question, and I did not hear that raised. The Supreme Court decided that. The laws of California are very clear in permitting a released program, and had the Board adopted such a program, no one as a citizen or taxpayer could properly register legal complaint.

Neither can it be an academic or educational issue. Dr. Jackson in a very roundabout fashion, finally tacitly admitted that the teaching program would not be hampered by the one hour a week of released time. In view of the fact that it is being allowed in neighboring districts, including Pasadena and Monrovia, it would be academic folly to say otherwise. Add to this the fine academic records of parochial and private schools, many of which require religious subjects every day.

Therefore, the only thing I can see to account for this decision is the plain fact that Mr. Barrett, Mr. Colvin and Mrs. Jacobs just plain do not want released time. I can see nothing within that except a kind of basic hostility that alarms me greatly.

A friend of religious institutions and teachings would welcome the offer of the Ministerial Association and other groups to set up a released time program. A friend of religion would use his influence and vote to give religion as vital a place as possible in public school life as long as he knew that it neither violated constitutional rights nor penalized the academic progress of the students.

Religion had only one friend on the School Board

Monday night, Martha Coutant. I shall pray, and at the proper time I shall work to see that it has more.

Signed,
ROBERT N. SCHAPER,
Pastor Bethany Church

SUGGESTS SOLUTION

Having only recently moved from Sierra Madre, I still follow the local news with interest, especially that relating to the schools. I would like to express my views in regard to released time even though we are no longer directly involved.

I want my children to have a good background in both religious and secular education. I don't want either to suffer because of the other. As you have already pointed out, the time spent in school is even now all too short to learn the many things that must be learned.

It seems to me that a possible solution would be for all the churches to agree on one day of the week and have the hour of instruction immediately after school that day. If the community wholeheartedly wants this religious instruction, it could see to it that the other after-school activities, which I think are also very important for our children, were not scheduled until after that hour or on the other four afternoons and Saturdays.

Since the majority of the school children go directly from school to their respective churches for religious instruction at one set time, this shouldn't be such a hard job.

Yours truly,
(Mrs.) ARDEN F. CORDRAY

THE GOOD SHEPHERD

A Tennessee local school board decided to start each day with the Lord's Prayer and a verse of the Old Testament. Parents who opposed the move sued to stop it as an infringement on religious freedom.

The Tennessee court said "the doctrine of separation of church and state should not be tortured into a meaning that the school system is to be made a Godless institution . . ." It added that a school's highest duty is to teach youth "that in the conflicts with life they should not forget God."

Is it clear to the children that the love of God, the law of goodness, are the heart of religion? Would one shepherd each week talk to them of the ways of life that are good?

Lee Shippey asks What Do You Think?

I'm a little afraid that the gallant Oregon team will make just a Rose Bowl full of breakfast food for Ohio State. Yet every week the upsets remind us that even the best of teams can't win all the time.

The same is true of all kinds of races, including armament races. All through history nations which thought they were far ahead suddenly have discovered they were behind. I don't think that has happened to us, but unless we can find some better method than competition in destructiveness it surely will happen some time. I'm also a little afraid that when, months after Russia has launched a 1,100-pound Sputnik, we launch a 20-pounder, it will seem to the rest of the world merely a sputernik.

And I'm also afraid that calling in Mr. Stevenson at this late date will seem to most persons evidence that political antagonists can be very broadminded when they need someone to share the blame.

THANK HEAVEN, Sierra Madre is so free from petty jealousies that we can all admire and appreciate Walter Thurber, regardless of our politics. Look back over the years and you will always see Walter engaged in some completely unselfish and public spirited effort for the honor of his town.

Who else, right now, would be willing to take on the Rose Parade float project? But just show Walter anything he regards as a civic duty and he will take hold of it and do his best.

Plans Made By Lutherans For Yuletide

"Christ Welcomes You" is the December theme for the new United Lutheran Church which worships at 10 a.m. Sunday in the upper room of the Woman's Clubhouse, 270 W. Sierra Madre Blvd. All are welcome to worship with the church during the Christmas season, according to Rev. Ray E. Hansen, pastor.

The church is now in Advent and each Sunday another candle is lighted in the Advent wreath to emphasize the significance of Christmas and its meaning.

Men of the church met Monday and decided to hold Christmas services at 7 a.m. Christmas Day, Dec. 25, in the chapel. This early service will be candlelight ceremony with the singing of Yuletide hymns by Sunday School children, congregation and choir.

Sunday School is held each Sunday at 9 a.m. in the chapel. Small classes enable children to receive individual attention from trained teachers, according to Rev. Hansen.

An adult Bible class is held by the pastor at 9 a.m. Sundays. The class will study the meaning of worship service and its Biblical background.

Ben Lax, past chairman, United Synagogues of America, will be guest speaker for the United Synagogue Sabbath to be commemorated at the Foothill Jewish Community Center, Temple Beth Israel, Friday, Dec. 6, at 8:30 a.m. Services will be conducted by Rabbi Charles W. Steckel, assisted by Cantor Salo Blumenthal.

Hosts for the Oneg Shabbath will be the women's division of the Temple Center, headed by Mrs. Beverly Sencer, president. Saturday 9 a.m. services will be conducted by Rabbi Steckel.

Methodists to Hold Lighting Ceremonies

Sunday evening marks the second annual outdoor Christmas tree lighting ceremony of the Sierra Madre Methodist Church, sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

At 5 p.m. members and friends are invited to gather in the church sanctuary, 695 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., to participate in this traditional event.

Mrs. Robert Hunsicker is in charge of the program featuring talent from the Methodist youth fellowships, the youth choir, directed by Samuel I. Kirk, and other surprise numbers.

Following the program everyone will adjourn to the front lawn to sing Christmas carols as the lights are turned on and the stately cedar tree begins its glowing holiday vigil. Officials of the WSCS will serve refreshments in the Parish House following the ceremony. Child care will be provided.

Because of MYF participation in the affair, their regular weekly Sunday night devotional and fellowship periods have been canceled.

Dr. McPheeters will preach on "God's Word in Man's Language" at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services.

A great many people look for the rainbow before the shower.

Dr. Sam Goodson and Rabbi Charles W. Steckel will present a paper on "The Three Branches of Christianity." Rabbi Steckel will act as moderator for an open discussion to follow.

Church Sets Plans for Toy Repairs

The All-Church supper at the Congregational Church Wednesday, Dec. 11, will be a "Christmas Workshop" at which Mom, Pop, and all the family will have a chance to do something together for someone else.

This year, children of the church will share their Christmas with children of migrant families who follow the crops here in California. They will share by earning money to buy items such as combs, soap, tooth brushes, shoe laces, crayons and pencils, and by bringing a good used toy or book to the supper.

Everyone will pitch in to repair used toys and to make new ones. Simple wooden games, sock dolls, cloth dolls, and bean bags will roll off the production line.

The gifts and toys will be dedicated as part of the Christmas pageant, "A Handful of Stars," to be presented Sunday evening, Dec. 22.

SUNDAY SERVICE

"The Power of the Annunciation" will be the subject of the Sunday worship service Dec. 8, at 9:15 and 11 a.m. by Dr. Ethel Barnhart, at the Santa Anita Church of Religious Science, 778 S. Rosemead, Pasadena.

United Lutheran Church S.S. at 9. Worship at 10 a.m. Upper Room, Woman's Club 270 W. Sierra Madre Blvd.

WE ARE MARKING the Advent Season (the four Sundays before Christmas) in our chapel with an Advent wreath. This colorful European custom is gaining popularity in American homes and churches. We lighted the first purple candle Sunday, next Sunday we light two, the third Sunday, three candles, and the fourth Sunday, all four candles will be burning brightly. The wreath is decorated with green holly leaves and purple ribbon, and hangs at the front of our chapel.

ADVENT MEANS to come or approach. It refers to the time when God visited this world in the visible Person of Jesus Christ more than 1,900 years ago. Until Christmas, the church tells us about the need and purpose for the coming of Jesus, and how He should always be received by us.

AS CHRIST entered Jerusalem for the last time before His crucifixion and resurrection. He was welcomed as a KING! So He should always be received, for He is King of heaven and earth. He is your King and my King.

TODAY'S THOUGHT—Christmas began in the heart of God. It is complete only when it reaches the heart of man. Yours Faithfully,

Deer Hunter Helps Maintain Vital Balance of Nature

THE LA LONE brothers and Howard Miller (holding electric lamp) admire buck shot by Edward La Lone in Modoc County. The La Lones, all members of the Search and Rescue Squad, are among the area's most avid hunters.

By Bill Wark

Deer hunting season ended at dusk Oct. 28. The hunter's trail is a long trail that wanders all over our state. Fred La Lone and Don Jackson were successful in the Greenhorn Mountains of Kern County, each bagging a four-point buck. The lonely lava beds of Modoc County proved fruitful for Earl La Lone with a four-pointer, Edward La Lone and Vint Hogee with two-pointers. The beautiful Sierras above Big Pine, Inyo County, provided Dick Parsons and Bill Wark with four-pointers.

Hunting is not the cruel sport which many believe. Since the beginning of history members of the deer family have provided men with both sustenance and the pleasure of the hunt. Venison was the most available meat found in California in the days of '49.

THE VALUE of a hunter was clearly shown in a Forest Service picture during a meeting between the Rescue Team and the Historical Society. Deer herds must be harvested the same as domestic farm animals. Without the hunter deer multiply too fast and overgraze their range. A slow death from starvation results. Weak from hunger, they fall victims to those animals of prey, the hungry coyotes and slinking mountain lion. One lion will account for more than 100 deer a year. This year an alarmed Fish and Game Commission held special doe hunts to trim down the herds.

In the Monache Meadow area alone, 800 deer had to be taken, if the herd were to survive. It is hard to believe that of the many deer in our High Sierras almost half die in the bitter snow during the winter months. Surely the hunter's direct aim and fire is far more humane.

The most concentrated hunt for deer in the annals of California occurred during the hoof and mouth epidemic of 1925. Attempting to suppress the disease among deer, more than 20,000 mule deer were killed by government hunters on a portion of the Stanislaus National Forest. Even then the deer rallied and returned to this area in large numbers.

EARLY to bed and early to rise is the hunter's life. Before dawn's early light he is heading for the mountain top, to match wits with the wise old bucks. No sport on earth provides such beautiful scenery as that which is seen through the hunter's eyes. The sunrise and sunsets in the high mountain country are grand beyond description. The hunter watches every hillside bush and tree, peers intently at the ground for those tell-tale tracks. Always alert, he travels silently into the wind, listening for every sound, a crack of a twig or falling stone. He hears the birds that sing, the scolding of a top-notched jay. The middle of the day is a time for rest, a time for reflection. Alone in the silence of the hills far from the restless city, he feels a sense of the divine in the fold of the clouds, the sun, wind and sky.

He sees his life as that trail winds through shadowy canyons, ever climbing upward toward the sunlit mountain top. In the soft light of the alpen glow he wends his way carefully back to camp, sits by the flickering fire listening to the tales of his companions. Healthily tired he crawls into his sleeping bag and quickly falls to sleep. His has been a day well spent. A day to remember.

AUTO CLUB MOTORLOG

Trip to Scenic Apple Valley Makes Delightful Desert Drive

If you haven't been up Apple Valley way in the past few years, you're in for a surprise, reports the Automobile Club of Southern California. For this entire area, located on the southern rim of the Mojave Desert, is bustling with activity and industrial development.

Real estate is booming, as motorists will readily note on the drive north via US 66 and 91. In fact, men are currently building a brand new city—with a predicted population of 100,000—at Hesperia.

However, at present, Apple Valley is primarily thought of as a desert play-spot—even though it is 3,000 feet above sea level. And the fun center of this area is the Apple Valley Inn and its famed 18-hole golf course. One may also rent horses, and anglers can tie themselves off to Stoddard Jess Trout Lake, which affords year-round fishing without any license requirements.

Five miles west of Apple Valley is Victorville, center of the agricultural district located at the edge of the Mojave Desert. The area is irrigated by the Mojave River, which flows most of its course underground, rises to the surface at Victorville, and then disappears in the desert to the north.

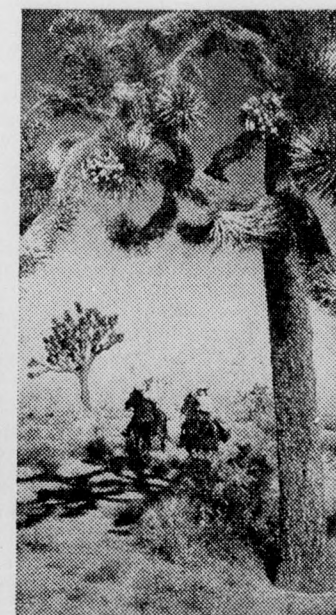

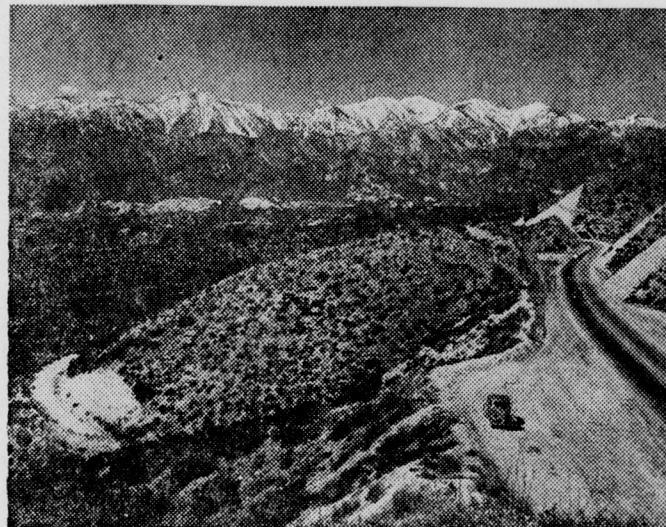

Victorville, formerly the "Wild West" location of hundreds of movies, is the valley's main city now, and although expanding rapidly, it offers a variety of excellent accommodations.

The 104-mile trip from Los Angels starts on the San Bernardino Freeway to Colton, then proceeds north on US 91 and 61, via historic Cajon Pass, to Victorville, and then east on California 18 to Apple Valley.

If time permits, and the motorist desires a terrestrial contrast on the return trip, he's advised to follow the circle route provided by California 18, past the snowcapped mountains in the Big Bear area, to Running Springs, and then proceed homeward via the freeway.

DESERT—Joshua trees mark Apple Valley desert country. More than 150 miles of bridge trails are available in immediate vicinity.

CAJON PASS—Drive to Apple Valley, via historic Cajon Pass, offers desert and mountain scenery. Mt. Baldy is in background.

Mt. Wilson Scout District Has Annual Banquet

The adult leaders of the Mt. Wilson District Boy Scouts (comprising Sierra Madre and Hastings Ranch) held their annual banquet at Carpenter's Santa Anita Restaurant recently with 80 persons present.

The presentation of colors and pledge of allegiance conducted by Sea Explorer Scouts from Ship 391, and the invocation was given by Rev. Harley G. Smith Jr., of the Church of the Ascension.

After the dinner, District Chairman Arthur E. Mann, as master of ceremonies, introduced the distinguished guests present, and reported on the progress made in Scouting in the district since the last annual banquet, and also on the condition of Scouting in the district.

District leadership training chairman Thomas J. Spencer presented Norman Shanks, district commissioner, with his "Scouter's Key," Phillip Farrell with his "Scouter's Award," and Mrs. Marion Farrell with her Den Mother training pin and a special plaque for her leadership.

District Vice Chairman Herman Ohs presented Marcus Woodward, Council advancement and awards chairman, with the "Order of Merit" award in recognition of his services to Scouting.

Three musical numbers were rendered by vocalist Don Clarke, accompanied by pianist Renee Hamaty, both of whom are music major students at Occidental College.

Christmas Lighting . . .

Handy Hints on Decorating Your Home for a Brighter and Safer Christmas

To help you make this Christmas season the brightest, safest ever, here are some worthwhile hints on decorating, inside and outside, all around the house.

Caring for Your Christmas Tree

As soon as you bring the tree home, stand it in a pail or tub filled with water until you are ready to set it up and trim it. This will prolong the life and appearance of the tree, keep the needles from falling, and minimize the danger of fire.

Trimming Your Tree

Keep your tree stand water-filled and your tree will remain fresh and fragrant throughout the holidays.

Bear in mind that tree trimming follows a fundamental rule of women's fashions—accentuate the opposite. If your tree is tall and slender, decorating lines should tend toward the horizontal. (See Fig. 1.) If it is short and full, trim your tree along lines which tend to be vertical. (See Fig. 2.) Applying this simple rule will help you bring out the best in the tree.

How Many Lights?

Too often, the number of lights used to trim a tree is arrived at by guesswork, and results look disappointingly "spotty." There is a formula, however, which does away with much of the guesswork and helps produce an evenly lighted appearance. To achieve what professionals call a "good lighted effect," try this formula:

Height of Tree (in feet) x Width of Tree at Base (in feet) x 3.

Let's say your tree is 6 feet in height and 4½ feet wide at the base. (See Fig. 3.) The formula would work like this: 6 x 4½ x 3 = 81 lights for "good lighted effect."

While personal taste is the last word in decorating Christmas trees, each year finds more families adopting the above formula which will help in bringing out the natural beauty of their tree and give a good-lighted effect.

Size of Tree	No. of lamps required to give a "Good Lighted Effect"
4'	36
5'	56
6'	81
7'	110
8'	144
10'	225

Where to Start

Trees should always be trimmed from the top down. In working from the bottom up, a trimmer is literally "in his own way," and runs the risk of knocking the tree down. So start at the top, with your angel or star ornament, and work down.

After your tree-top ornament is firmly in place, string the tree lights, using the formula outlined above for a good lighted effect. Reflectors and halos are available at modest cost, and these greatly increase the brilliance of tree lights. Next, add your "continuous" decoration, such as strung popcorn. Follow this with glass ball ornaments, snow balls, candy canes and similar decorations. Last, add aluminum or lead tinsel, one piece at a time, and finish perhaps with a spray of artificial snow.

Most Important of All—Safety

From coast to coast, some 40,000,000 families will light up their Christmas trees this year. If all of us practice safety, we may make this the year when no Christmas tree fire sweeps through an American home, turning a family's joy into grief. There is a highly effective way to protect against short circuits and overloading. Simply make sure you plug a safety "fused" plug set (such as those offered by NOMA LITES) into your original source of current and then add your other decorative sets to this set. This will ensure protection against overloads and short circuits, and prevent darkened rooms due to blown-out fuses. In addition, inspect all light sets carefully for fraying or exposed wires. Let's make this Christmas the safest on record.

Light Up Those Indoor Focal Points

Windows, end tables, mantles, foyer tables and stair rails are all decorating focal points at Christmas. Window wreaths and candleholders come in a wide variety to suit the individual taste, while end tables lend themselves to small artificial Christmas trees with lights that bubble or twinkle merrily. Mantles provide an ideal setting for angel figures, candles, and lights with reflectors set into a background of evergreen branches. (See Fig. 4.) Foyer tables are just right for a "specialty" display, such as illuminated paper poinsettias in a centerpiece basket. Your stair rail, aglow with lights tucked between pine and laurel branches will add still more cheer to your holiday.

Outdoor Decoration Says Merry Christmas To All

The exterior of your home and your grounds offer tremendous decorating opportunities. But practice safety outside as well as inside. Make sure all outside wire is #12 or #14, rubber insulated and heavy duty.

The best source of current for outdoor lighting is a permanent, protected outdoor-type receptacle, or a garage or porch lamp. Even without such an outlet, you can safely reach an indoor receptacle. Merely drill a hole in a board which will fit a convenient window snugly. Close the window on the board and run the outdoor wire in through the hole in the board. The window can be "brace-locked" with a stick. (See Fig. 5.)

Your Doorway and Eaves

Lights in outline form around a doorway, outdoor candles and lighted sprays are highly successful main entrance decorations, proved over years of use. Many standing "specialty" units, such as Santas, Snowmen, Cañons and the like have more recently come into greater use near front doorways.

The eaves of your roof represent an ideal display point for Christmas lighting. The most common difficulty in eave light-

Lighting Evergreens Outdoors

Evergreen trees on your front lawn can be especially appealing when lighted. Generally, lights of a single color are preferred on outdoor evergreens. For an enriched effect, however, try this. Make your topmost light white, and mix perhaps two blue lights with an overall pattern of green lights.

In order to protect a valuable Blue spruce or Douglas fir, build a simple "teepee" to carry the light strings. Pound stakes into the ground around the tree, inside the spread of the branches, at regular intervals.

Then lead rigid wire up from the stakes to a point several inches below the tree-top. Fit a padded wire collar around the tree stem at this point and fasten wires to the collar. (See Fig. 7.)

More Tips For You

You may have found just the decorating idea you have been looking for. Whether you have or not, more hints and help are available to you, free of charge, in a booklet called, "The Art of Decorating." This booklet contains not only decorating ideas for the Christmas season, but for many other holidays and occasions throughout the year as well. Your FREE copy will be mailed to you promptly upon your request. Simply address: NOMA Lites, Inc., 55 W. 13th St., New York 11, N. Y., and ask for "The Art of Decorating." We believe it will help you enjoy the brightest, gayest, safest Christmas you have ever known.

Garden Notes . . .

Heavenly Bamboo Among State's Most Popular Shrubs

Nandina is commonly called Heavenly Bamboo, although it is not bamboo at all, but a member of the barberry family. The popular name was given it because its habit and leaves are strongly reminiscent of bamboo. In Japan, Nandina is used at Christmas time in the same manner that we use Holly berries and leaves. Sprigs of Nandina are used for decoration and to adorn gifts.

The California Association of Nurserymen recommends nandina domestica and its dwarf form (n. d. nana) as one of the most popular shrubs in the state. It has seasonal color, lovely flowers, autumn berries and a dramatic growth habit, all of which make it a rewarding plant to include in any garden.

Nandina has a light, airy pattern of upright, cane-like stems which are slender and do not branch. The much-divided leaves are delicately textured, spreading out from the main stem in a lovely fern-like illusion. The upright pattern makes it ideal for planting in close quarters, the illusion of ferns makes it perfect for oriental and tropical effects and its delicacy makes it highly dramatic with night lighting.

THE NEW leaves which unfold in spring are tinged with pink and bronzy-red. They turn light green as they mature and remain that way throughout the summer. In the fall the leaves begin to be tinged again, this time in purple and bronze shades. In winter they turn darker colors, sometimes a fiery red.

If the home gardener wants dramatic winter color, he should select specimens from nurseries right now, for each plant varies in the intensity of its winter color.

The lovely nandina blossoms are loose, erect clusters of small creamy-white or pinkish flowers which appear in late spring. The masses of shiny red berries which follow the flowers are only produced in groups of two or three plants. Nandina does not produce berries in Southern California.

Nandina grows slowly to about six or eight feet. If it is cut to the ground regularly it will stay at about three feet. The dwarf (n. d. nana) form grows naturally to about three feet. It grows more compactly and has smaller leaves and leaflets. This is more adaptable to single-story residences because it always stays in proportion to the home.

-when electricity dries

fresh-air sweet indoors?

Only Electric Dryers can do it. In an electric dryer, radiant coils warm the air inside. There's no flame, none of the by-products of combustion. It's cleaner and purer than any other way of drying. 32% fluffier than back-yard drying — and electric drying doesn't fade colors.

Electric dryers not only cost less to buy, but less to maintain. Before you wait on the weather again, see the new electric dryers at your appliance dealer.

SECTION 5. No person, firm or corporation shall collect or remove any garbage or refuse from any premises in the City of Sierra Madre, nor convey same upon or along any public street of said City without first having obtained a permit so to do, provided, however, that this section shall not apply to any person in the employ of the City of Sierra Madre who shall be assigned to the work of garbage or refuse collection or disposal. No such permit shall be required of any landscape architect, tree surgeon or building contractor, licensed by the City of Sierra Madre, solely for the removal of debris resulting from the operations of any such business for which he is licensed; nor of any person, firm or corporation licensed by the City of Sierra Madre performing work as an independent contractor for the removal of weeds, the clearing of land, or the regular and continual maintenance of premises in the City.

SECTION 6. It shall be unlawful for any person to bury garbage at any place within the City. It shall be unlawful for any person to dump or spread garbage on the surface of the ground for drying, composting or mulching. All payments made under the provisions of sub-section (b) hereinafore shall be collected by the person employed by, or designated by contract with, the City so to do.

SECTION 8. All such garbage, combustible or non-combustible refuse or rubbish, shall be placed for collection and removal in the parkway adjoining the premises from which the same is to be collected not more than twenty-four (24) hours prior to collection days, provided, however, that the collection of garbage or combustible materials from commercial establishments where access may be had from an alley, shall be made from such alley, or from the parking area used in connection with said commercial establishments.

SECTION 9. It shall be unlawful for any person whose garbage, combustible or non-combustible refuse or rubbish has been collected by the City as herein provided for, to willfully fail, neglect or refuse, after demand by the City, to pay the fee or fees as herein described for such services and in the manner provided for in this Ordinance.

SECTION 10. The fees provided for herein shall be charged and billed as a monthly service charge. No credit shall be allowed for a portion of a month's service. The City Treasurer shall be responsible for all monies collected and shall deposit the same in the Water Fund of the City.

Where it can be shown that garbage, combustible and non-combustible collection services are not required, and a survey or inspection of the premises bears out such fact, the Street Superintendent, or such other person as the City Council may from time to time designate, is hereby empowered to cancel or adjust such charges in a proper and equitable manner.

SECTION 11. The method of collecting the fees provided for herein shall be as follows:

The City owns and operates the City water system. Bills are sent out by the City each month for water consumed. It is hereby determined by said City Council that the bills for water service and the bills for garbage and refuse collection shall be paid on the same date as the bill for water service. The City Council shall have the authority to collect garbage and refuse collection fees, during the months in which the bill is rendered. When the regular water bill is rendered for a particular month and there appears thereon a charge for garbage, combustible and non-combustible materials collection, the total sum shown on said bill shall be paid as a bill and on the provision of Ordinance Number 522, as amended, and the amendments thereto pertaining to collection of fees for water service shall apply to the total amount shown on the statement for both water service and garbage, combustible and non-combustible materials collection service.

Where garbage, combustible and non-combustible materials are collected at a location where water is not consumed, a separate monthly bill shall be presented to the person liable for the services charged. The collection of such charges shall be governed by the provisions of the general law.

SECTION 12. The City Council may from time to time by Resolution adopted at any regular meeting of such City Council, specify by rules and regulations the days, hours and manner of the collection of garbage, combustible and non-combustible materials in the City.

SECTION 13. Any person violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $300.00 or by imprisonment in the City Jail or in the County Jail of the County of Los Angeles for not more than three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SECTION 14. If any provision of this Ordinance or its application to any person or circumstances is held invalid, the remainder of the Ordinance or the application thereof to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected.

SECTION 15. This Ordinance shall become effective December 1, 1957.

SECTION 16. Ordinances No. 460 and 530 of the City of Sierra Madre, and all other amendments thereof, shall be and the same are hereby repealed.

OUTDOOR DECORATIONS...

CUT OUTS of all types, Santas, angels, deer and the like will look more natural when the bottoms of the objects can be covered with low shrubbery or the like. A cut out deer, with light on it, hidden from sight, will almost look natural peeking out from behind the shrubbery.

Placing these objects on the lawn are fine, but perhaps a little too formal. They will look better and much softer when hidden in a more natural manner.

When it is impossible to do a scene in the front yard, or to trim all the leaves with lights, which is beautiful we will all admit, why not try something unusual for the doorway or porch? This can be done by a swag on the door made of pine, sprayed with spray paint, let's say in copper. Now let's hang from the porch ceiling gold balls in different sizes and heights. Maybe even do over the porch light with balls of gold wired to it to cover the glass or frame work. The porch now takes on a jeweled look—a sort of doorway to the season. The entire yard focuses on the door instead of spread all over.

YOUR NURSERY right now has some dwarf conifers. These can be planted in large pots or wooden tubs. They can be kept from year to year—and can become a seasonal item you use each year. Put one on each side of the door or walk entrance. These two small trees you decorate in something original, from wooden angels to unusual decorations. These trees carry the small twinkling lights. It will amaze you what these two little trees will do to carry the Christmas spirit on your block, simple and easy to do and a little different, too. Next week some outdoor tree decorations... see you on television from our own garden over Channel 7, each Sunday at 1:15, and each Friday at 4:30 on Channel 3.

A bore keeps you from being lonely, but makes you wish you were.

I just wonder how a turkey would feel if he ate as much human as we do bird. I'm sure he couldn't feel any fuller than I do and have for the past week. It is so economical to buy a big bird and it just lasts and lasts and lasts. I couldn't put any more in the freezer because it's full of last year's Thanksgiving and Christmas turkey, plus any number of quarts of turkey soup and the Easter ham leftovers.

I'm either going to have to get a bigger freezer or stop my squirrely ways. I just love to open the darned thing up and see it brimming with goodies ready to eat, but my big trouble is I can't bear to use them up for fear I might need them some other time. I am going to change right now! I will, I will, I will!

Hastings Teen Times

By Pat Smith
ELgin 5-1903By Joan Kaponya
ELgin 5-7941

Thanksgiving is over and the Christmas rush has begun. It surely is a hassle and a hassle, but what fun. Sometimes I think it is more fun to shop for presents for others than to receive them.

CHEERS to all the kids who were in the Talent Show a week ago Friday. Linda Jordan narrated with the assistance of Steve Le Blanc, Bob Chase, Marilyn Mohn and David Stivers.

The acts included the Charleston by Linda Dittberner, Sue Hubley, Pat Dickson, Linda Smallman, Helen Goldby, Linda Ellis and Judy Jennings; the Nairobe Trio, Jerilyn MacIntyre, Marsha Raymond and Dianne Nields; accordion numbers by Carolyn Dunn and Charlotte Evans; dance by Linda Yezerski, Pat West and Karen Aberly, pantomime by Maggie Stefanos; piano solo by Vicki Marriethew, songs by Jennie Bernthal, Heather North and Kathy Moore.

EVERYONE AT Wilson surely enjoys the records played Fridays at lunch. Everyone includes most students, and I even saw some teachers smiling as Elvis shrieked "Hail House Rock," Pat crooned "April Love" and the Rays did "Silhouettes."

Since everyone enjoys this privilege, let's keep the campus clean so we won't lose the right.

COOKIE AND candy making is another thing that really is a lot of fun to do. A tasty pull is such a good thing to plan for a party that I can almost guarantee it will make for a great affair.

Then there are the ambitious ones who go out and work during vacation. Is it ambition or is it parent suggestion?

SCHOOL PICTURES came out recently and what a reception. Of course, everyone thought his own picture was terrible and everyone else's was really great. I think the biggest chop was when John Doe said, "My picture is just awful." Jane Doe replied, "Oh, but John, it looks just like you."

DEEPEST SYMPATHY to Mr. and Mrs. Glavas, parents of Beth Glavas, who was killed a week ago in an automobile accident.

Get well wishes to Neil Wilson, Bev Dancart, Carolyn Elliot and Mike Doyle, who were injured in the same accident.

Hi! I hope everyone had a pleasant Thanksgiving vacation. Our family had a large turkey, so we'll probably be eating what's left until Christmas. From what the teenagers are saying, they certainly did have an enjoyable holiday.

Last Wednesday night Barbara Reynolds drove up to San Francisco with her family and spent her Thanksgiving night and flew back.

Chris Dinwiddie, Dixie Grieve, Sara Bolter and a couple of other kids went to the show and saw Pat Boone's new picture, "April Love," during the holiday.

TERRY JANE Flannery, better known as T.J. or Terry, had a real cool party Friday night from 7:30 to 11. The dress was strictly informal so you could relax. Those who attended were Francis Gordon and Richard Norwood, Renee Lauchlan and Terry Strieter, T.J., Ron Abernathy, Carol Caviar, Randy Wallace, Janet Burpee, Jerry Zazlaw, Barbara Jones, Dennis Skeels, Yvonne Stoyanovich, Jim Parker, Diane Elletts, Bill Billato, Tom Bittani, Roberta Kravetz, Bonnie Gaines, Diane Reese, Joan Asher, Janet Westhagen, Tim Scalzo and John Watts were the others enjoying a gay time. Plus the crashers, we understand! All had a fabulous time, with cakes, sandwiches and other goodies. Dancing was the main activity.

THE TENTH GRADE Y Teens have a lot of activity stirring. A fashion show already has been held—very successful, too. And now plans are under way to a semi-formal dance. If you haven't joined you can still do so.

GLAD TO SEE Ginger Dubler as one of the rose princesses recently selected for the Rose Parade festivities Jan. 1. Ginger, as many of you know, is a former Ranch resident. She lived on Valley View. Couldn't happen to a nicer gal. Good luck, Ginger. Hope they select you as the Queen.

A helpful reminder: If you plan to go to the basketball game tomorrow between Marshall and Wilson, don't forget to bring along your student body card. Bye, and see you next week.

ST. PAUL VISIT

Mrs. LolaRee Hull, 609 W. Sierra Madre, left this week for St. Paul, Minn., where she will spend the holidays with her sister, Mrs. William T. Shillcox. She expects to remain in the east for three months.

The hostess served dessert at the opening of the meeting, after which the business meeting and program was held. There was an exchange sale of gift items, the proceeds from which will be used to further club projects. Plans are to be made for a Christmas party Dec. 28. Mrs. Donald Alsop, president, presided.

Following a plan agreed upon several months ago by the club, each member will display identical pots of red and white chrysanthemums on their porches during the Christmas season to say "happy holiday" to passers-by.

Mrs. LaMotte
Is Ranch
Honor Guest

Mrs. LuVerne LaMotte, vice chairman of the Pasadena Board of Education, will be honor guest at a "coffee" for some 100 Hastings Ranch and Sierra Madre Villa women at 10 o'clock tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Skipper Rostker, 3426 Barhite.

It is expected that in addition to the social hour, Mrs. LaMotte will answer questions concerning the schools, problems and plans.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Rostker will be Mrs. Arthur Mann, Mrs. T. Bruce Graham, Mrs. Donald Lindgren and Mrs. Samuel Joseph.

Stanford Woman's Club
Slates Annual Benefit

A double dividend of holiday ideas and creations will be declared this year to those who attend the annual "Holiday Surprises" benefit sponsored by the Junior Division of the Stanford Women's Club of Pasadena today.

Under the chairmanship of Mmes. John L. Church Jr. and Richard F. Walters, guests may first enjoy tea in the uniquely decorated home of Mrs. David Dunham, 495 Madeline Dr., Pasadena, then stroll across the street to a benefit sale at the home of Mrs. Leonard David Callahan, 500 Madeline Dr. There, in the unusual indoor pool house packed with holiday delicacies, decorations and gifts will be displayed and sold from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Everything on sale from frothy yule wreaths to packaged fruit cakes or plum puddings has been designed, created and donated by members of the group under the general direction of Mrs. Fred P. Lyte, president, and the display represents the talents and ingenuity of every member of the organization. Proceeds from the sale benefit the club's scholarship to Stanford University for a Pasadena area girl.

A special room will be set aside for gifts and decorations for children, and here

Valley Symphony
Opens Concert
Season Dec. 7

The San Gabriel Valley Symphony Orchestra opens its season in Monrovia with an evening concert at Clifton Junior High Auditorium, Saturday, Dec. 7, at 8:15 p.m.

The "Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Dukas, and the "Preamble for a Solemn Occasion" by Copland, with Congressman Patrick Hillings at narrator furnish the highlights of a program which includes Christmas music appropriate to the season and the finale to Franck's "Symphony in D Minor."

Owing to reconstruction at M-D High School Auditorium, Monrovia area appearances this year will be at Clifton Junior High Auditorium, located on Palm Ave. between Ivy and Canyon, which is just south of the Lyric Theater on Foothill Blvd. There is adequate street parking adjacent to the auditorium. Admission is free.

Club Juniors
Plan Annual Holiday Ball

Mystery surrounds the decorations for the Shakespeare Club Junior annual Christmas Ball scheduled this year at Huntington-Sheraton Hotel next Saturday and under the direction of Mrs. Edward P. Fleischer, chairman. Cocktails will be served at 7:45 followed by dinner at 8:30 p.m.

The theme, "White Oasis," will be carried out in sparkling white and blue. Mrs. Kenneth C. Holloway Jr. is decorations chairman. Busy helping Mrs. Holloway are Mmes. Thomas A. D. Fessenden, Donald W. George, Edward E. Odette, George H. Morales, Sidney R. Brock and Franklin A. Williams.

Other committee members at work making arrangements and taking reservations are Mmes. John M. D'Zurko, Richard E. Kohlhaase and Claude R. Hickman.

Early reservations for the juniors' first affair of the holiday season have been made by Mrs. Stanley A. Newlin Jr., president, Mr. Newlin, Messrs. and Mmes. Willard Karl Jr., Harry A. Meskill, Lawrence B. Hendrickson, Roger W. Maxson, William M. Lamb, James O. Schellin, Donald Jay Bent and Walter E. Ziegler.

Juniors and their husbands will dance to the music of LaVerne Voyer and his orchestra.

HOME FROM SEA

Anthony G. Pascoe, seaman USN, son of Mrs. Saline A. Pascoe, 373 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., returned to San Francisco recently aboard the attack cargo ship USS Chara after a tour of duty with the U.S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

Upper Hastings Ranch
Yule Contest Starts

The more than 700 resident members of Upper Hastings Ranch Association again will extend season's greetings to their neighbors in San Gabriel Valley and invite them to the annual Hastings Ranch Christmas decoration contest. It is estimated some 20,000 guests observed the decorations during Christ-mas week last year.

As in past years, contest philosophy will be built around individual creativeness and not monetary outlay.

Community spirit insures this fourth consecutive year of decorations will surpass those of preceding years in quality and number.

Contest judging will be held the evening of Dec. 23 by dignitaries of the cities of Sierra Madre and Pasadena. Three prizes will be awarded in each of five categories—religious, fantasy, humorous, most beautiful and the best use of lights.

An additional block prize award will be made to each home in the best block concentration of decorated homes. Pepperhill Road residents, past claimants to this block prize, promise to be in strong contention again this season.

All prizes are graciously donated by merchants of Sierra Madre and Hastings Ranch Shopping Center.

The association's membership chairman, Edgar Williamson, has announced the annual Upper Hastings Ranch Association membership drive is progressing satisfactorily and is well ahead of last year.

Association members automatically become eligible for some $300 worth of appliances to be awarded at a special Christmas drawing the evening of Dec. 23.

Residents are urged to obtain their membership now for the nominal fee of $1 and thereby aid in financing the 1958 activities of the association, designed for continual community betterment.

Lari Osborn Is Crowned
Ranch 'Queen of Links'

By Charles Ayres

For a guy who, as I was told the other day, expounds on players of everything from football to parchesi, I've sure missed the boat.

I was greatly abashed recently to learn that sporting things are going on under my nose and I didn't even know it. If I hadn't dutifully attended a PTA function the other night, I may have never found out, which speaks highly for the unassuming modesty of the doer, but is darned poor for news reporting.

The whole point is that Lari Osborn has done it again. This development is all the more amazing since Lari hasn't been playing really serious golf for more than a couple of years. In typical fashion, however, she went at it with the overwhelming vitality and forcefulness that make champions, be they bridge or bowling.

As anyone knows, to become proficient in any sport requires hours of practice. This is particularly true of such a treacherous game as golf.

LARI HAS managed, however, as her record in competition indicates, and must be a source of considerable pride to her home course at Glendora.

Proud, too, is her family. Her husband, Jack, confides that he really doesn't mind being a golf widower. The necessary acquisition of a trophy case in their already well furnished home on Shadow Grove has cramped things a bit. But then, golf is predominantly a daytime sport—except for postmortems—and the latest trophy, a large and beautiful hors d'oeuvres tray, I'm told, can help brighten those evening hours.

Wake up! It's late!

Your Health . . .

Recovery Chances Good For Victims of Stroke

By Roy O. Gilbert, L.A. County Health Officer

Back in the year 1900, stroke was seventh among the chief causes of death in the United States; now it is third. Although this condition rarely occurs before 45 years of age, virtually anyone past this period of life may be stricken. Fortunately, not all such occurrences are serious.

Many strokes are so slight that no readily apparent physical or mental damage results. These have been called "little strokes" by one eminent physician who also stated that many individuals have them and do not even know it.

Such cerebral vascular accidents, as they are often called, may occur in a number of ways. Chief among them is clot formation in one of the arteries of the brain (cerebral thrombosis), or the blocking of a blood vessel by a clot floating in the blood stream (embolism).

WHEN THE blood vessel closes down due to some local irritation, this constriction is known medically as a cerebral vascular spasm, or cerebral occlusion.

In cases where such a spasm is of short duration, medical authorities state that permanent damage does not necessarily occur.

Physicians are definitely more optimistic than they were in years gone by concerning the effects of treatment in cases of cerebral vascular disease and strokes, damage done by a stroke is extensive.

Although there is no cure for strokes, whether big or little, a number of medications are extremely effective in treating the conditions that they cause. Therapy in other respects is also greatly advanced over former times and most stroke victims including the hemiplegic (paralysis of one side of the body) need not despair.

GOOD HEALTH habits are beneficial also, both to help the condition and to avoid it. The right amount of the proper foods, plenty of rest and sleep, mild exercise, and, in so far as possible, avoidance of worry and anger are strongly recommended.

FANCIFUL COOKIES

ADD TO HOLIDAY PLEASURE

Fanciful cookies, cut from a rich rolled dough, add much to your holiday pleasure. And they are really quite easy to do.

Use the recipe for Gingerbread Boys to make a "boys" and "girls" and fine fat "Santas." Make delicate "stars," "trees" and the like with the recipe for Rolled Sugar Cookies.

For patterns, use cookie cutters you have or design your own. A piece of stiff cardboard may be cut for a special design. Crease it well, lay it on the rolled dough and cut around the pattern with a sharp paring knife. Use a wide spatula to lift the cut dough carefully to a lightly oiled baking sheet.

GINGERBREAD BOYS

1/2 C. sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. allspice
1 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 C. shortening
1 C. brown sugar
1 1/2 C. molasses
2 tsp. soda
3 Tbsp. cold water

Sift together flour, salt and spices. Cream shortening and brown sugar together. Mix in molasses. Stir in 1/2 C. cold water. Blend in sifted dry ingredients. Dissolve soda in 3 Tbsp. cold water and mix into dough. Chill dough thoroughly. Roll out to 1/2 inch thickness and cut in desired shapes. Place far apart on lightly greased baking sheet. Bake at 350° until, when lightly touched with finger, no imprint remains. Baking time will vary with size of cookies. Allow 15 to 18 min. for 2 1/4-inch round cookies.

Raisins and bits of candied fruits for eyes, nose, mouth and buttons may be pressed in cookies before baking. Add frosting decorations after cookies have cooled.
